A thrive and thrust for the prosperity has led human civilization reach the point where today we stand but without nature everything goes in vain so the urge for the greenery can be seen in the institute's garden well developed and well managed throughout the year, as plantation and greenery needs huge amount of dedication and love for the nature which institute showcases through the much-acclaimed garden area created and maintained in the institute. Also, it adds to the scenic beauty of the campus and it also helps retain the quality of the top layer of the soil and helps in the sustenance of many creatures like insects, moths, etc. in this way the ecosystem is also maintained while we being still focused on our day today life activities.
